

PSALM

98

DISCUSSION QUESTIONS

Key Takeaways

- 1.) God's redemptive love rescues us, reveals Himself to us, and remembers His promises.
- 2.) Redemption is freely available but requires us to let go of what we've been holding onto.
- 3.) True freedom is found only in Jesus Christ.

Discussion Questions

- 1.) The sermon mentions that "sometimes we have to cry for mercy before we can shout for joy." Can you share an experience where you had to go through a difficult time before experiencing joy or victory?
- 2.) How has God revealed Himself to you in your life? Were there times when you felt like God wasn't revealing Himself?
- 3.) The sermon states, "God doesn't need a reminder that you're still in need. But He wants to hear your voice anyways." How does this impact your view of prayer and communicating with God?
- 4.) Discuss the concept of salvation being free but also requiring us to "empty our lives of things we filled up on as substitutes for Him." What might be some of these substitutes in your life?
- 5.) How can we as a group encourage each other to "sing a new song to the Lord" and celebrate God's redemptive work in our lives?

PSALM

98

DISCUSSION QUESTIONS

Practical Applications

- 1.) Take time this week to reflect on God's rescuing power in your life. Write down specific instances where you've seen God's intervention.
- 2.) Practice intentional moments of praise and thanksgiving, even in challenging circumstances.
- 3.) Identify one area in your life where you need to let go and make room for God's redemptive work. Share with a trusted friend or group member for accountability.
- 4.) Commit to memorizing a verse from Psalm 98 this week to remind yourself of God's redemptive love.
- 5.) Look for opportunities to share your testimony of God's redemption with someone who needs encouragement.

Closing Prayer

Lord, thank you for your redemptive love that rescues, reveals, and remembers. Help us to fully embrace the freedom found in You and to let go of anything that hinders us from experiencing Your love fully. Give us the courage to sing a new song of praise, even in difficult times. In Jesus' name, Amen.

